4. TRADING IN FOREX/CFDs IS RISKY AND SPECULATIVE:

Trading in Forex/CFDs is highly speculative, involves an outstanding Risk of loss and is not suitable for everyone but only for those investors who:

- a) Understand and are willing to assume the economic, legal and other risks involved.
- b) Are financially able and prepared to lose all their Invested capital.
- c) Have the knowledge to understand Forex/CFD trading and the underlying assets.

In case the expiry system fails for any reason and the Forex/CFD does not close at the available market price when the instructed price has been met, the system will issue a notification to a Risk Manager and/or Compliance Officer, in order for the position to be resolved manually. The affected client will be placed in the same position had the CFD closed at the available market price when the instructed price has been met.

10. RISKS PARTICULARLY ASSOCIATED WITH TRANSACTIONS IN FX/CFD FINANCIAL INSTRUMENTS

Investing in some Financial Instruments entails the use of “gearing” or “leverage”. In considering whether to engage in this form of investment, the Client should be aware that the high degree of “gearing” or “leverage” is a particular feature of Derivative Financial Instruments. This stems from the margining system applicable to such trades, which generally involves a comparatively modest deposit or margin in terms of the overall contract value, so that a relatively small movement in the underlying market can have a disproportionately dramatic effect on the Client's trade. If the underlying market movement is in the Client's favor, the client may achieve a good profit, but an equally small adverse market movement can not only quickly result in the loss of the Client's entire deposit, but also expose the Client to a large additional loss. In regard to transactions in derivative Financial Instruments, a derivative Financial Instrument is a non-deliverable spot transaction giving an opportunity to make profit or loss on changes in currency rates, commodity, stock market indices or share prices called the underlying instrument. The Client must not purchase derivative Financial Instrument unless he/she is willing to undertake the risks of losing entirely all the money which he has invested and also any additional commissions and other expenses incurred.

For further details please read our Risk Disclaimer for Financial Instruments which is available on the Company's website.

11. OVER THE COUNTER ('OTC') TRANSACTIONS

When trading in Forex/CFDs, the Customer is effectively entering into an OTC transaction; where the parties directly negotiate between each other rather than through a regulated exchange market. The Company is using a Trading Platform for transactions in Financial Instruments which does not fall under the definition of a recognized exchange or a multilateral trading facility. OTC transactions may involve greater risk compared to transactions occurring on regulated exchange markets. Due to the absence of a central counterparty, the parties bear certain credit risk, risk of default or may face situations where it is impossible to liquidate positions or to assess the value of a position and/or of the Option.

12. COUNTERPARTY RISK

These risks are associated with the default of a counterparty whereas is unable to meet its financial obligations. The Company holds the clients' money in an account that is segregated from other clients' and the Company's money, in accordance with current regulations but this may not afford complete protection.

13. THRID PARTY RISK

- 13.1. The Company may transfer money received from the Customer to a third party (e.g. OTC counterparty, clearing house, bank, Liquidity Provider/ Market Maker, Intermediate broker) in the course of facilitating the Transactions of the Customer or to effect a Transaction through or with that party. The Company bears no responsibility for the insolvency, acts or omissions of any such third party.
- 13.2. The third party to whom the Company will transfer the money may hold it in an omnibus account and it may not be possible to separate it from the Client's money or the third party's money. In the event of insolvency or withdrawal or winding up proceedings against the third party, may lead to the Client's positions being liquidated or closed against his/her wishes or non-execution of Client orders/transactions. In addition, the Company may only have an unsecured claim against the third party on behalf of the Client and the Client understands that there is a risk that his/her claim will not be satisfied. The Company does not accept any liability or responsibility for any resulting losses.
- 13.3. The Company may deposit Customer money with a depository who may have a security interest, lien or right of set-off in relation to that money.
- 13.4. A third party through whom the Company deals with could have interests contrary to the Customer's interests.

14. INVESTOR COMPENSATION FUND (ICF Fund):

The Company participates in the Investor Compensation Fund for clients of Investment Firms regulated in the Republic of Cyprus. Customers will be entitled to compensation under the Investor Compensation Fund where we are unable to meet our duties and obligations arising from your claim. Any compensation provided to you by the Investor Compensation Fund shall not exceed twenty thousand Euro (EUR 20.000). This applies to your aggregate claims against us.
